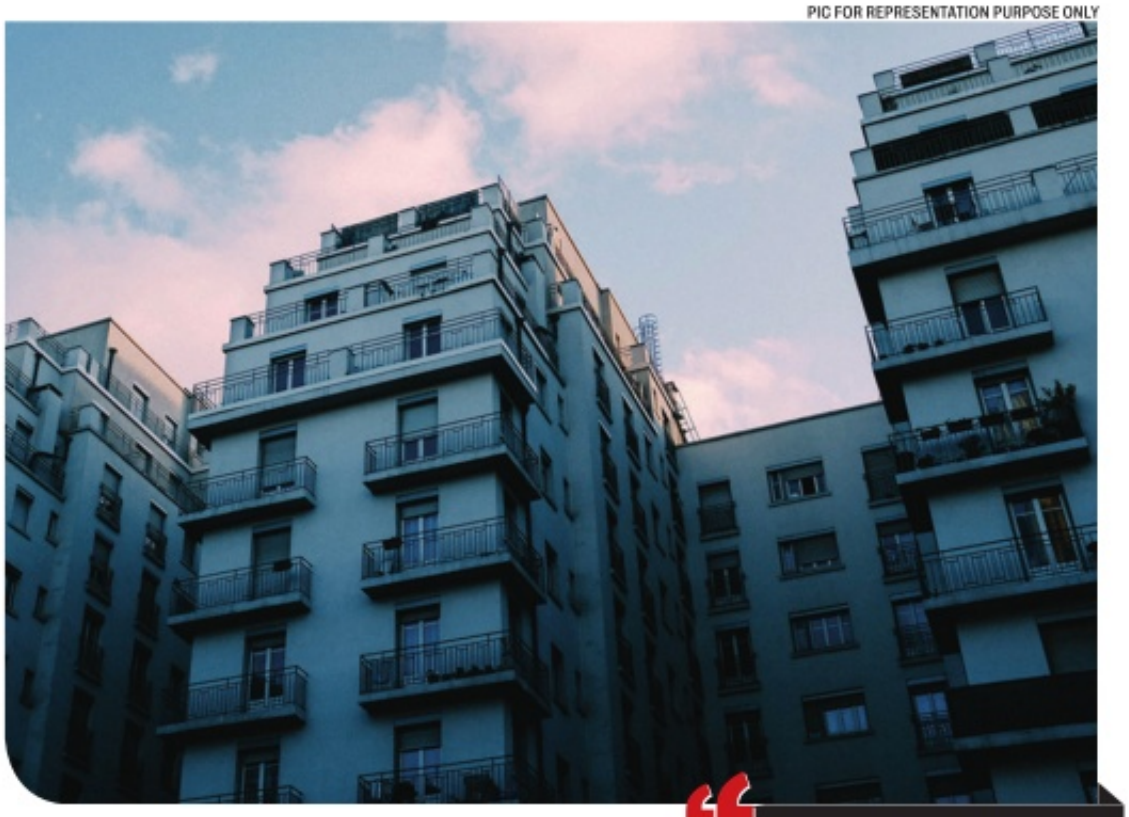
PIC FOR REPRESENTATION PURPOSE ONLY



Karnataka Lokayukta issued a notice to the Bangalore Development Authority (BDA) into the alleged 'scam' involving a few builders who constructed flats for economically weaker sections (EWS) but sold the dwellings to others after availing the occupancy certificate (OC) from BDA.

The Lokayukta issued the notice to BDA commissioner G Kumar Naik based on a complaint lodged by Dhananjaya Padmanabhachar that accused the BDA of issuing occupancy certificates to flats constructed for economically weaker sections later sold by builders to others for prices on par with flats constructed for general public.

"The complainant is a homebuyer in Mantri Serenity Apartment and Shobha Arena Apartment, and have been issued occupancy certificates in respect of Mantri Serenity Apartments and Shobha Arena Apartments; they have mentioned EWS flats in the occupancy certificates issued to the said apartments, which are not found in the declaration letter made by the builder, and when the complainant checked the apartment, the EWS flats are not found and BDA has mentioned about EWS flats in the Occupancy Certificate, i.e. Mantri Serenity Occupancy Certificate has said (580+100 EWS), but in developer's declaration deed the number of flats in Tower 4 is mentioned as 580 and in Shobha Occupancy Certificate (657+68 EWS), but, number of flats in Developer Declared Deed is mentioned as 657 flats," the Lokayukta said in the notice.

The Lokayukta notice directed the BDA commissioner to investigate himself for not disclosing the floor area ratio and not validating the declaration letter. "The occupancy

Bengaluru has been witnessing several cases of school children consuming drugs and alcohol. According to a police source, cases have been emerging of teenage school students involved in substance abuse — police estimate that more than Rs 136 crore worth of drugs are being traded annually in Bengaluru.

The primary target of peddlers are students of reputed engineering, medical and degree colleges; of late, school students are targeted too.

According to the police, cannabis, cocaine, MDMA, opium, and so on, are being sold near educational institutes. Among these, cannabis is easily available and transactions are taking place at a relatively high rate. Besides, more than 110 varieties of drugs are easily accessible to children. As the demand for synthetic drugs is on the rise, the number of peddlers in the city has doubled.

Nagasimha G Rao, child rights activist and director of Child Rights Trust, told BM that most of the teachers and parents don't understand the difference between various drugs as they are often ignorant.

"There is no proper data to prove how many children are involved in drug usage because in most cases parents won't come out and say that

Tech to keep exam paper leaks at bay

Authorities mull sending question papers online to centres before printing to ensure they are not leaked

The Karnataka School Examination and Assessment Board is mulling introducing online distribution of question papers to SSLC exam centres to ensure question papers are not leaked as such incidents have happened in the past.

Officials said that the online transfer could be the future instead of the conventional methods where the question papers are printed well in advance, stored and transported for distribution to respective exam centres on the day of exams.

During the recently held SSLC preparatory exams, 8.69 lakh students had taken the exam. The question papers were sent online to the Block Education Office (BEO) where the question papers were printed and sent to the respective exam centres. Hence, the officials are planning to follow the same method during the fifth and eighth grade boards, SSLC, and PU exams as well in the future.

However, there are quite a few challenges that exam authorities may face as all the BEOs have to be equipped with internet facilities and huge printers. As many rural areas face power outages, the printing of question paper at the last minute can be a big bet.

Board's chairperson R Ramachandran said, "We have utilised the latest technology of online transferring of question papers during the recently held SSLC preparatory exams. Now, we are brainstorming whether to introduce the online transfer for the SSLC exams as well."

II PU exams to begin today

The II PU exams will begin across the state from Thursday. However, the PU department will be following the old tried-and-tested method in distribution of question papers. This year, 7,26,195 students will be writing the exams. The maximum number of students are from Commerce (2,47,260), followed by Science (2,44,120).

School Education Minister BC Nagesh said that they have taken adequate care to ensure the exam papers are safeguarded and exams are held in a foolproof manner.

"We have ensured that the question papers and answer scripts will be under CCTV surveillance 24*7. We have already held a round of discussion with the police department for taking those who were involved in malpractices earlier into preventive custody. The police will keep an eye on the tuition centres, coaching centres, photocopying centres, cyber cafes and gaming parlours as well.

"Every year, the rumour mongers spread fake news about question paper leakage. There is no question of question paper leakage and we have taken all possible measures. So, I request everyone not to pay heed to such rumours. The police will also take action against those who are trying to mislead students by distributing fake question papers on social media, handwritten question papers or question paper samples. Mobile phones are strictly banned inside exam halls," he said.

The Golden Trumpet tree, also known as Handroanthus Chrysanthus, is a medium-sized deciduous tree native to the tropical regions of Central and South America that is now in full bloom in Bengaluru. Citizens cannot stop taking pictures near the trees and are even posting it on their social media handles.

The tree is popular for its large, trumpet-shaped flowers that are bright golden yellow in colour and bloom in spring, usually in March or April. The tree is known for its aesthetic value and ornamental purposes. It can grow up to 30 feet and thrive in a warm climate.

According to Kavya Chandra, Founder of Green Venture Sustainable Living, many of the colonial engineers like GH Krumbiegal (late 1800 to early 1900) and Neginhal (1970 and 1990) planted the first Tabebuia in Bengaluru. These yellow delights also known as The Caribbean Trumpet tree and burst into colour every year at the beginning of summer.

The tree can be planted from seeds or cuttings and the tree's beautiful and vibrant flowers are a source of joy and inspiration for many people, and it is often featured in art and literature.

Environmentalist Vijay Nishant said, "People always appreciate the pink tabebuia, this yellow one is another delight to eyes during bloom and are a treat for the eyes during summer. It helps bees also.

"The oldest one in Bengaluru was planted by Jawaharlal Nehru and can be found opposite Lalbagh Glass House. But today, we are losing these trees to road-widening and removal of footpath projects in Bengaluru."

The fully bloomed yellow tree is seen at Cubbon Park, near the Jawaharlal Nehru Planetarium, parts of Basavanagudi, and even MG Road. The sight of these beautiful trees in full bloom has been a source of joy and wonder for many people.

7,500 CCTV cameras being installed across Bengaluru to enhance security

Bengaluru will soon become a part of the Indian cities with the highest CCTV coverage. On Wednesday, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai said that a total of 7,500 CCTV cameras are being installed across the city to enhance security. So far, 4,100 cameras have been installed across 1640 locations. Real time footage can be viewed at the Command Centre.

Currently, the footage from cameras can be viewed in all eight DCP offices and 96 police stations. 30 safety islands have also been installed and are already operational. City Police is also equipped with eight drone cameras for public order management and 400 body-worn cameras have been issued for the field staff. As a part of the Safe City project, an integrated support centre for women and children is being set up. This centre will be equipped with counselling facilities, medical check-ups, legal assistance, and video conference facilities for recording 164 statements, informed a senior police official. "We are also setting up critical care response units at eight major government hospitals. They include Bowring and Lady Curzon, Vani Vilas, Victoria, KC General, and Yelahanka General hospitals. These critical units will provide medical treatment and personalised counselling for women and children in distress," they said.

The CCTV footage can be viewed in all 8 DCP offices

Besides women police stations, women help desks are now being set up in police stations to assist women and child victims who will be offered counselling services. The help desk operators are trained by expert counsellors from NIMHANS. "As there is a delay in cases that require forensic investigation, we are now setting up eight state-of-the-art mobile forensic vans," said another police official.

Special task forces (Rani Channamma Pade) are capable of rescuing people in cases of emergencies, police informed.

KSDL can't get out of this soapy soup

Union leader alleges KSDL management wants to 'send dissenters to prison'

A Mysore Sandal Soap advertisement board; KSDL Employees Union president GR Shivashankar had accused the management of procuring raw materials three or four times above the market price

It seems as if there is no end to allegations and denials against or in support of Karnataka Soaps and Detergents Limited (KSDL). If the on-going accusations by different unions representing KSDL employees are any indication, the organisation may continue to be in the limelight for notorious reasons for a little longer.

KSDL Employees Union president GR Shivashankar had recently alleged that raw material was being procured by paying three to four times above the market price for the same.

Shivashankar said that the KSDL management procured 15 counts of raw material at higher prices, causing a huge loss to the company. "I demand the state government to dismiss the KSDL Managing Director immediately for the loss incurred by the company. The media conference on Wednesday was organised by the supporters of the KSDL management," he said.

On the allegations about pending cases, he said that a union leader is at risk of facing charges and going to prison if he is not in support of the management. "I am against the management. So, the management files complaints against me," he added.

On Wednesday, representatives of Karnataka Soap Factory Workers Association, KSDL Employees and Officers Association, and KSDL Scheduled Caste and Tribes Employees Association addressed the media, saying that they were not against the government ordering a probe on the alleged financial irregularities. They said they were against defaming the brand image of KSDL.

"Shivashankar has been making allegations against the KSDL management. There were some complaints against him. The complaints made by him are baseless. I have been working with KSDL for the last 38 years," said Karnataka Soap Factory Workers Union general secretary R Lokesh.

A representative said that he suspects Shivashankar of supporting the elements trying to privatise KSDL. Representatives also objected to Kannada movie director Nagathihalli Chandrashekhar's tweet on the KSDL management. Chandrashekhar said that he is reluctant to use Mysore Sandal Soap as he was not happy with the mudslinging on the alleged corruption at the company.

> "Shivashankar has been making allegations against the KSDL management. There were complaints against him – R Lokesh, Karnataka Soap Factory Union union

"Due to certain instances, people like me who have faith and respect towards government-owned firms and products are reluctant to use Mysore Sandal Soap. I have been using it for a long time," he said on twitter.

Appealing to the public to not be suspicious of KSDL, the representatives said they also demanded the state government to constitute a committee to probe the alleged corruption at the company.

"I want to appeal to Natathihalli Chandrashekhar to continue using Mysore Sandal Soap. I will personally meet him shortly," said Lokesh.

Students enjoy women's day 'smart tour'

On Wednesday, as many as 250 young women, all students from multiple government schools, took a 'smart tour' of projects taken up by the Bengaluru Smart City Limited (BSCL). The tour covered BSCL's Integrated Command and Control Centre (ICCC), the annexure building at Jawaharlal Nehru Planetarium, Cubbon Park, and Bal Bhavan.

According to BSCL officials, the idea behind the tour was to make children aware of different projects that had been undertaken since the launch of the Smart City Mission in Bengaluru. "The smart tour has been organised and designed in a way to empower women and children. The event was conceived to engage students with the Smart City Mission. Children were taken through all the projects and technologies used to make them work. We wanted them to have an idea of various technological advancements they are surrounded with along with their application," said Susheelamma, Joint Managing Director, BSCL.

We explained our project's features and made them aware of various works we have taken up. For instance, important aspects of the ICCC that the students can also utilise will be explained to them.

Students have a field day

Young women from the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) schools in Vijayanagar, Srirampura, and Mattikere took the tour. The event also celebrated International Women's Day on March 8.

"We saw a video of the command and control centre. We were also told how the project will help Bengaluru become a Smart City. We were also informed about the toll-free number that we can use in case any help is required. We were told that we could reach out to this number when in distress, whether at home or outside," said Chanadana, a student at Corporation Girls High School in Srirampura.

The idea behind this tour was to make children aware of different projects that had been undertaken since the launch of Smart City Mission in Bengaluru

For Narmada, a class 9h student who attended the tour, the one-stop solution for all civic complaints turned out to be the biggest highlight. "We are told that we can raise complaints related to garbage disposal, streetlights, water supply, electricity, and more with the command and control centre and the centre would connect us to the respective departments. We can then keep track of the issue through the complaint number. I feel that the centre's master system integrator technology is amazing," she said.

Medical experts come together to raise awareness on kidney health. As kidneys perform vital functions for the human body, doctors break down significance of taking care of the organ and getting regular check-ups done

'Regular screening is must'

To maintain kidney health and go for regular check-ups are one of the most important care we can give to ourselves. This remains the key message from experts. Manipal Hospitals in association with Bangalore Mirror and Vijay Karnataka organised an all-important awareness programme on how to protect kidneys.

Inaugurating the programme on Wednesday, Minister for Health and Medical Education Dr K Sudhakar said, "There is a rise in kidney ailments. So my suggestion is asking people to go for screening of kidneys in early stages as final stages may lead to chronic kidney disease, dialysis or organ transplant. Awareness is key and I thank Bangalore Mirror, VK and Manipal Hospital for organising this special awareness programme."

According to Dr H Sudarshan Ballal, Chairman, Manipal Hospitals, kidneys perform a lot of important functions for the human body and hence, it is important to maintain kidney health and do regular check-ups.

"Unfortunately, we detect kidney issues very late as it's a very silent disease. So, we exhorted people to get their kidneys checked. We call that the kidney number that will tell you how well your kidneys are functioning. Like people are aware of their cholesterol, their blood pressure, and their sugar, but very few people are aware of their kidney number. If all these four are controlled, then you probably don't need to see the doctor," he said.

The prevention and treatment of kidney disease also requires modification of lifestyle. Hence, maintain a healthy lifestyle, cut down on calories, carbohydrates, certainly no tobacco limit or give up alcohol and do regular exercise. Do not take medicines that are harmful to the kidney, he added.

Issues with access to kidney health

Though the dialysis and transplantation process is widely available, one of the major problems for kidney-related ailments is lack of accessibility and awareness.

Prakash Belawadi, actor, elocutionist and theatre artist, talked about the accessibility and affordability of kidneys among people.

"The important thing is the accessibility and affordability because there is a kind of priority on who gets the benefit. One is, of course, economic, the other is social. You know, some of us have better access, assists or there's a possibility of deceiving an organ when we're in distress than others. And to kind of find a kind of egalitarian equitable playing ground for this is a great responsibility that I think all of us have."

He added that stringent steps must be taken to make people aware about the problems along with organ donation and preservation.

As awareness was the key, this special programme was organised in association with Manipal Hospitals, said VK editor Sudarshan Channangihalli.

Manipal Hospitals in association with Bangalore Mirror and Vijay Karnataka organised an all-important awareness programme on how to protect kidneys

● What is dialysis and when do you need it?

When kidney has failed more than 90 per cent, when we cannot manage with medication, we need to replace the kidney, what we call as renal replacement therapy in the form of either dialysis or transplant, explained Dr Vishwanath S, HOD & Consultant, Nephrology and Transplant Physician at Manipal Hospital.

When the glomerular filtration rate (GFR) drops down 15 ml per minute, then people have to go for dialysis. The normal GFR levels in humans are 90 to 120 ml per minute.

"What kidney does every minute, every second, we do with the help of a machine where dialysis has to be done every week, two or three times. Each dialysis session will be about 4 hours and in a week we do around eight to 12 hours of hemodialysis. There is one more form of dialysis called peritoneal dialysis where patients can do dialysis at home, he informed.

In Haemodialysis, the patient's blood is taken out and run through an artificial kidney called haemodialysis circuit and then the clean blood is put back to the patient's body. In chronic cases of kidney failure, dialysis has to be done lifelong unless there is a transplant, he explained.

The recent medical advancements have released a new process of hemodialysis called hemodiafiltration which is currently being used at Manipal hospitals.

Hemodiafiltration is much safer as there are less chances of infection and fewer chances of people developing heart attacks, he added.

● What symptoms to look out for?

Dr Ravishankar B, Consultant - Nephrology, Manipal Hospital, explained what symptoms suggest chronic kidney failure.

"Once they develop advanced stage of kidney failure, usually they will start having anorexia, which means kind of not liking food, and then decreased appetite, loss of taste and vomiting sensation all the time, and also may develop a lot of swelling of the legs and breathing difficulties because of the fluid accumulation in the lungs," he explained.

Another symptom might be abnormal sleep patterns. Some other ways of identifying early kidney disease may be seeing a frothy or foamy urine or noticing a recent rise in blood pressure or puffiness around the eyes having a difficulty in breathing, especially on even slight exertion or on lying down.

Some people also experience skin changes, dryness and a lot of itching in their skin all over their body. Which is why checking kidney functions regularly is very important, said Dr Garima Aggarwal, Consultant Nephrologist and Renal Transplant Physician, Manipal Hospital Varthur.

LIFE'S ON

● How common is kidney failure?

As there are no registries, there is no data on how many people suffer from this devastating disease of kidney failure.

However, out of these people, 90 per cent of the patients do not receive any kind of treatment because of lack of awareness, lack of facilities or finances.

"Some communities in both developed and underdeveloped countries are at increased risk because of their ethnicity, creed, and socioeconomic status and where they live. For example, African American Indians, Hispanics, Asians and other communities are known to suffer from higher rates of diseases like diabetes and hypertension," said Dr GK Prakash.

As per the latest release data, nearly two-third of patients in India with kidney failure die without receiving any kind of dialysis.

● What causes kidney failure?

Diabetes, hypertension, glomerulonephritis is the most common reason behind kidney failure in people. "Hereditary diseases, kidney stones, indiscriminate use of medicines in the form of painkillers, and kidney infections might be some other reasons behind kidney failure cases," added Dr GK Prakash.

● Can you avoid kidney failure?

Coming into the control of kidney diseases, it can be broadly divided into special treatment and non-special treatment.

"Special treatment is for treatment of underlying causes for the kidney disease like auto-immune diseases, vasculitis, kidney infection and obstruction of urine flow by either kidney stones or by prostate enlargement. Kidney function can be completely or partially recovered by the treatment of the cause," said Dr R Sanjay Rampure, Consultant - Nephrology, Manipal Hospital Sarjapur.

● Are women more prone to kidney diseases?

Experts say that women are more prone to kidney-related diseases than men.

Due to Urinary Tract Infections (UTI) which is very common in women, especially at the child-bearing age, they become more susceptible to kidney damage, said Dr GK Prakash.

"Pregnancy is also a unique challenge and it can give rise to some of the problems with kidney which could be in the form of temporary kidney dysfunction in the early part of the pregnancy, or pregnancy related hypertension and these together can give rise to chronic kidney diseases in the long run," he explained.

● What are the options for renal failure patients not opting for transplant or dialysis?

Some of the renal failure patients may not opt for a more aggressive method of treatment like haemodialysis or renal transplant, and may wish to have a more conservative method of treatment for renal failure.

"In these patients, the treatment plan shifts to preserve and prevent additional kidney damage and to improve the quality of life. The recommended plan includes one control electrolyte levels by monitoring and controlling the blood levels of sodium, potassium, magnesium and calcium," explained Dr Mohan K, Consultant - Urology, Transplant & Laparoscopic Surgery, Manipal Hospital Millers Road.

● Dialysis or transplant?

Dr Ajay S Shetty, Lead Consultant - Urology, Renal Transplantation & Robotics Surgeon, highlighted the benefits of Kidney transplantation over dialysis.

He said, "Once a patient has been diagnosed to have end stage renal disease. If this patient meets all the criteria for a kidney transplant, then patients should be strongly motivated towards getting it done."

certificate should be issued after all no objection certificates are validated. The complainant in the complaint stated that Mantri Serenity project Deed of Declaration has declared only 4.5 acres of land out of 28 acres of land as undivided share. Therefore, by order of the Hon'ble Lokayukta, you are directed to submit a report on this matter before March 28. I have been directed by the Hon'ble Lokayukta to submit a report to our office without fail," said Additional Registrar of Enquiries-7 in the notice to the BDA.

'EWS scam'

The scam involves flats reserved for the EWS category sold by builders to other sections of the general public. The government has introduced affordable housing schemes and offered benefits to builders who are taking approvals under the scheme to develop EWS (economically weaker sections) units in projects. The builders who are taking approvals in this regard are not following the guidelines to allot EWS units to economically weaker sections of the society and instead these homes are sold as normal homes to home buyers.

According to Dhananjaya Padmanabhachar, principal secretary, Mantri Serenity Home Buyers Forum and sanchalak of Karnataka Home Buyers Forum, the authorities that are supposed to inspect the project and give occupancy certificates are not checking EWS units' existence and there by joining hands with builders who are involved in cheating.

"When I checked my apartments occupancy certificates issued by BDA in Mantri Serenity and Sobha Arena apartments, I found there are irregularities with respect to EWS units and sent an email to the BDA commissioner seeking clarifications. But there was no response to the mail for a long time. Hence, I filed complaints with Honorable Karnataka Lokayukta to investigate the case so that we get a proper occupancy certificate from the BDA,'' said Padmanabhachar.

Drug menace & kids

their child has been using drugs. There is stigma in seeking help when it comes to alcoholism or substance abuse by young school students. In recent years, drug peddlers have been targeting school children; there are a lot of such activities occurring near schools. There are also cases where children would use whitener for substance abuse; parents would not be aware of it. We have observed that school children start using drugs mainly during exam time, where they would consume drugs and blame anxiety," he said.

Central Crime Branch joint commissioner Sharanappa told BM that the city police seized drugs worth Rs 92 crore in 2022 and Rs 60 crore in 2021. In June last year, police destroyed drugs worth Rs 43 crore, he added.

"When it comes to drug consumption, there are different strata of users — daily wage workers, businessmen, party goers and students; we are taking all the measures to make sure that drugs don't reach anyone, especially students. We have started organising awareness programmes; anti-drug committees have been formed in various institutions. We also have parent-teacher meetings where the local inspector or sub inspector will be in attendance to spread awareness. Any such activities which are recorded near any educational institutions are being watched and arrests are being made of drug peddlers whose activities are caught near educational institutions," he said.

He also pointed to cases where police caught children doing drugs and parents were called and told to keep an eye on their wards.

R Shashivarma Shetty of 4s NGO said from standard VIII onwards students should be taught about the consequences of substance abuse and drug addiction.

"The main problem is the easy availability of alcohol and drugs over the counter. Even if there are laws that state that a minor cannot buy certain things, we have no idea how strictly these rules are being followed. When it comes to using medicines as drugs, it should be the responsibility of the medical store to question the buyer and be alert. It's also the parents' responsibility to be aware," said Shetty.

JD(S) raises heat over forest fires

The Janata Dal Secular on Wednesday targeted the BJP's 'double-engine government' in Karnataka and at Centre over forest fires in the state owing to dry spells, saying that the failure of the Basavaraj Bommai government inflicted huge losses on the state.

The party, which ruled the state previous in alliance with the Congress, said it is the duty of the state government to put in place modern technology to contain forest fires.

"Forest fires have been raging across Karnataka over the last few days. They cause harm to local communities and wildlife while also taking a heavy fiscal toll on the state. They make the surface hard that reduce water absorption & burn down regeneration, effectively degrading the ecosystem," read a tweet on the official handle of the JD(S).

"More than 70 per cent of forest in the state is dry deciduous, scrub & unwooded grasslands. The state has limited resources. It is the duty of the State government to enhance surveillance by roping in local communities. Modern technology must be in place to contain the fire," it added. –ANI

Woman passenger caught smoking on Kolkata–Bengaluru flight, arrested

A 24-year-old woman passenger has been arrested after she was found smoking in a lavatory of a Kolkata-Bengaluru flight, officials said. The incident took place on an Indigo flight on March 5. Alerted by the smell of smoke emanating from the lavatory, the cabin crew forced open the door and found the woman smoking. She then threw the cigarette in a dust bin, after which the cabin crew poured water on it. The cabin crew brought the incident to the captain's notice. The captain filed a complaint about the "undisciplined" passenger. –IANS

Tight schedule

Nayanthara has officially wrapped up shooting with Shah Rukh Khan for the Mumbai schedule of 'Jawan'.

The actress, who was recently spotted out and about Mumbai with her husband, Vignesh Shivan, has reportedly completed her work shooting for the film.

The actress arrived in Mumbai for a week-long schedule that had a couple of important scenes.

The actress and new mom will be flying back home to Chennai on Wednesday for a while before she resumes shooting the next schedule.

Reports on Pinkvilla state that the beauty is expected to join SRK in Rajasthan for the next schedule, but, the team has yet to lock their dates. —ETimes

Lady sleuth

Priyanka Upendra is excited about her 50th film, as she plays a rare character — that of a female detective

A big portion of Priyanka Upendra's 50th movie's shooting is over. The movie Detective Theekshana is to be released in seven languages – Kannada, Tamil, Telugu, Malayalam, Hindi, Bengali, and Odiya.

The movie, directed by Trivikram Raghu, has Manjunath Hegde and Muni Venkat Charan in the lead roles. According to the director, shooting of the talkie portion of the movie is completed and arrangements are being made to complete an action sequence shortly. Trivikram Raghu debuts as a director with this movie.

"The screenplay of the movie is very interesting. Not many movies are being made on women detectives. I am confident that audiences like this movie and each and every scene of the movie is gripping enough to make them stay on the edge of their seats while watching it at theaters. I am very happy to know that my movie will be released in other languages after a long gap," said Priyanka Upendra.

She said that director Trivikram Raghu has been working hard without compromising on any aspect of quality of this movie. It is said Detective Theekshana was meant for only Kannada audiences, but later the producer and director decided to release it in other languages too because of the quality of the movie. And the encouraging part is that the poster of the film released in Hindi and other languages has received very good response from movie buffs.

The specialty of this movie is music by PR. Manu Dasappa has worked behind the camera. Trivikram, Avinash, Sidlingu Sridhar, Manjunath Hegde, Ashiwin Hassan are the cast. —Y Maheswara Reddy

Grave concerns

If all goes well, Kannada movie Koneya Nildhana (meaning the last stop) based on the real life story of a woman grave digger of Mysuru would be ready for release shortly. The movie is about Neelamma, a woman grave digger at the Lingayat Burial Ground at Vidyaranyapura in Mysuru. Its shooting began at the burial ground on February 27 and was completed by March 6. Mysuru Mayor Shivakumar M sounded the clap board for the muhurat scene of the movie.

"I came across Neelamma, the woman grave digger, while surfing the internet. There was data on Neelamma having dug up more than 1,000 graves over the last 30 years. I went to Mysuru to meet Neelamma. I was surprised to see her dedication. I was shocked and amazed to know that Neelamma has already dug a grave for herself too. I thought of making a movie based on Neelamma's lifestyle," said MD Kaushik, who plays a YouTuber, apart from handling the megaphone for this movie.

He said that he decided to make this movie because it would be the first Kannada movie to be made on a woman grave digger. "My friend Harish S Kolar who lives in the US has agreed to bankroll this movie. The total budget of this movie will be within Rs 15 lakh. I will not allow the cost of the production of this movie to go beyond that because I am responsible for the producer to get his money back," he said.

Mahesh Dev, Pooja Raghunandan from Hassan, Meese Anjanappa, Basavaraja Mysuru, Ugram Suresh, Nani Hebbal, Anand Babu, and Manjunath R are the cast while PVR Swamy has worked as the cinematographer. Professor Doddarange Gowda, Krishna Prasad from Australia, and Madhu Akki Hebbal from the US have written the lyrics for this movie's songs, while Ramprasad of Moodal Kunigal Kere fame has scored its music.

The numbers in the grey squares refer to the sums of the digits that you must fill into the empty spaces directly below or to the right of the grey square containing the number. For instance, in the given example, the 3 boxes horizontally next to 15 must contain 3 digits that add up to 15, whereas for 9, it is the 2 boxes placed vertically under it that must add up to 9. No zeros are used here, only the digits 1 through 9.

Note: A digit cannot appear more than once in any particular digit combination. For instance, in the example, we cannot have the combination of 4+7+4 for 15.

Rules

» Connect adjacent dots with vertical or horizontal lines, creating a single loop (Fig A). » Crossovers or branches are not allowed (As shown by dotted lines in Fig B). » Numbers in the puzzle indicate the number of lines that should surround it, while empty cells may be surrounded by any number of lines. » You can't draw lines around zeros. » Each puzzle has just one unique solution.

How to begin:

Example (Fig A) – Begin with the zero next to 3. Since no lines can be drawn around zero, mark crosses around it, as shown. Now there is a cross in one space around 3. So we know the three lines of 3 can only be drawn in the remaining three spaces. Next, these lines can only be extended in one direction each. Continue, using the same logic.

Hints: Keep eliminating possibilities by marking crosses in spaces between dots where a line isn't possible, i.e., if you have already completed required lines or where a line extension may create a branch or cause a dead-end (Fig B)

Bengalureans binge on biryani

Tracing the city's favourite dish and multiple varieties available

Biryanis are one of the most loved dishes in the city. In the second part of the city's biryani trail, we explore the other varieties of biryanis that are available in Bengaluru and Karnataka.

Currently, one of the favourite biryani in the city is Ambur Dum biryani. Of late, Ambur dum biryani has picked up popularity and some of the restaurants are known to serve the authentic and delicate Ambur biryani. These days, there are a number of Ambur Biryani restaurants. "There are a number of outlets. These restaurants dish out chicken biryani to be precise along with khushka and kebabs from these non-descriptive Ambur Biryani joints. This style of preparation has taken Bengaluru by storm in the last decade. Biryani is my favorite dish and I prefer to eat biryani three to four times a week if not daily. Many think that they need to travel to cities like Hyderabad or Lucknow to eat authentic biryani. But, now, a number of restaurants have opened in Bengaluru where one can get authentic local biryani varities," said Satish Reddy, a resident of RT Nagar.

Samyukta R, a college student, said, "Biryani is a popular and beloved dish in India, and its roots can be traced back to the Mughal era. Over time, different regions in India have developed their own unique biryani recipes, and one such recipe has become a legend in the town of Ambur and now authentic Ambur biryanis are served in Bengaluru. In fact, the Ambur biryani is darker tomato rice colour. The mutton or chicken pieces given along with it are well cooked and tender and taste amazing."

Find out what makes the delicious Ambur biryani so irresistible and learn about a special version, Bidar biryani, that is also catching on fast

Biryani is very popular even in Bengaluru and there are huge fans of the Ambur biryani who eat it every day. In majority of the houses, you can see people heading to the Ambur biryani restaurant or parcelling it and having the delicious, mother watering biryani. Unlike the other style biryani, the ambur biryani has a totally different taste. It tastes so good because it is made on wood and the dum is given in coal from beneath and even on top. The biryani is said to be made with small rice, that is seeraga Samba rice unlike the normal basmati rice. The Ambur biryani has its own secret ingredients which makes it the best recipe. Like other biryanis which have a yellow or orange tinge, the colour of Ambur

Waseem Memon who runs a Facebook group Foodies of Bengaluru said there are many reasons to love biryani. "The first reason is that it is readily available and can be served really quickly. There are no accompaniments needed. The best part is that different types of biryanis are available in Bengaluru based on your palate. Last but not least, biryani is associated with success/celebration and hence ordered when you want to cherish any occasion."

Memon said that another interesting variety of biryani is Bidar biryani.

"The Kalyani biryani hides a legacy of the Nawabs of Bidar in its aromatic infusion of rice and protein. Legend has it that the biryani derived its name from the Kalyani Nawabs who travelled from Bidar to Hyderabad in the 18th century. The setting up of the Kalyani Nawab ki Deori (haveli) by the Nawabs, who belonged to the Basavakalyan region, which was a part of the old Hyderabad State, played a major role in the invention of this interesting biryani variety. While the haveli was known for extending remarkable courtesy and generosity towards the travelers who stopped by, especially from Bidar," Memon added.
